FSB students are delighted to announce that they have elected

George Washington, a business student studying at FSB Croydon, as their Student Union (SU) President. George acts as the lead for the FSB Croydon SU and works to bolster the SU to make a meaningful difference in student lives.

‘FSB is the place for pioneering student confidence,’ said George Washington as newly elected FSB Croydon SU President. ‘I promise to solicit views from the students about their needs and how to improve efficiency in our studies. I will be in constant contact with FSB senior management to ensure that the needs of students are listened to and acted on.’

Speaking about the appointment, Mr Mohammed Zaidi, FSB’s CEO, added: ‘I am pleased to welcome George as SU President. He has clearly outlined his aims to build new links with organisations to form a concrete civic identity for FSB’s SU and discover additional advocacy opportunities. We all look forward to working with George to make a positive difference in FSB student life.'
